Extrajudicial killing of Tamil civilians by Sri Lankan Armed Forces (SLAFs)
Since Geneva talks on 24 February until 26 May 2006 (updated)

Introduction

*The graph shows the number of: Tamil civilians killed by GoSL forces; Sri Lankan armed forces killed by Tamil Resurgence groups; and LTTE members killed by Sri Lankan armed forces during the CFA period. The data on Sri Lankan armed forces casualty was obtained from news reports and from a report published in the Sri Lankan army website. The graph shows that 70 civilians and 127 LTTE members were killed before Tamil people lost patience and began to attack Sri Lankan armed forces in Nov 2005 for the first time.

Attack on civilians

LTTE has been publishing list of civilians killed by the GoSL armed forces and this list has been growing alarmingly, (20 civilians were killed by GoSL forces since the Allaipiddy massacre on 13 May). There has been no official recognition by the SLMM of the culprit for the vast majority of these killing. SLMM, for the first time, has ruled one of these killings, the killing of seven civilians in Nelliady, Jaffna on 4 May as a CFA violation by the SLAFs.

Attack on media

There was the attack on the Uthayan Press office on 2 May, the International Day for media freedom. Two employees were killed. The attackers were looking for the editors and outraged at not finding the editors destroyed everything in sight.

Attack on people's representatives

Attacks on civilians continued, incessantly, from Geneva talks onwards leading up to the murder of respected Tamil community leader, Mr. Vanniasingam Vigneswaran. Vigneswaran from Trincomalee was to be announced as a TNA member of parliament, to replace Mr. Joseph Pararajasingam. Pararajasingam, another respected people's representative, TNA parliamentarian for Batticaloa, was also murdered in December 2005 by SLAFs. Vigneswaran's murder was followed by the murders of three more people's representatives in local government. Vilvarasa from Jaffna, TNA candidate for local government election, was killed on 20 April at his home as he came out to lock the door for the night by white-van paramilitary. Senthilnathan from Vavuniya, also TNA candidate for local government election was shot in his shop by helmeted motorbike paramilitary on 27 April. Balasundaram Kamalaraj, another TNA candidate for Kalmunai, Batticaloa was shot by motorbike gunmen on 18 May.

Kamalraj from Batticaloa, Vigneswaran from Trincomalee, Senthilnathan from Vavuniya and Vilvarasa from Jaffna, that spans the entire Northeast.

Attacks in LTTE area

Seven claymore mine attacks carried out by SLAFs inside LTTE area has claimed the lives of ten civilians and injured many more. On 24 May a claymore mine attack in Semamadu in Vavuniya killed a member of LTTE and a civilian. SLAFs has also shot and killed villagers who have gone into the forest area in LTTE region to hunt or collect wood. Five civilians have been murdered in this style in two separate incidents.

Tamils discuss, ask, and are outraged

The current situation in the Northeast is nothing new to the Tamil people. For almost fifty years starting from 1958, they have faced the genocidal violence of the SLAFs, its paramilitaries and Sinhala mobs. Throughout this Genocidal history, Tamils have continued to discuss among themselves, asked questions and got angry about the flippant manner in which the international media and the international community ignored their plight.

This 50 year history of Genocide has been poorly documented due to the on going devastation of the community, loss of skill due to displacement, and terror among people living in GoSL controlled areas. This is a point that must be strongly registered in the minds of the SLMM and others from the international community who have come to help to resolve the situation. Without a heightened awareness of this past Genocidal history the helpers could naively make the situation worse for the Tamils.

The current context of SLAFs committing extrajudicial killing, initially using the paramilitary while SLAFs provided the backup for the activity, and lately taking direct part in these executions have been ignored by the international community. This despite the LTTE warning from as early as 2003 and despite the presence of an international monitoring mission (SLMM) stationed in the Northeast.

After the Geneva talks 190 Tamil civilians have been killed. Unless the SLMM becomes more proactive in ruling these extrajudicial killings for what they are, a heavy burden will be on SLMM shoulders and on the shoulders of the international community for failing to stop the slaughter of Tamil civilians by SLAFs.

Tamils continue to discuss among themselves, ask questions why the international community is so flippant about their plight and they become outraged.

Are the Tamils fools?

Breakdown of modes of killing

Tamil civilians murdered by, and under the supervision of, the SLAFs since the Geneva talks on 24 February are given in a Table in this report.

The modes of their extrajudicial killings fall into the following categories.

1. direct shooting by the SLAFs,
2. direct shooting by the paramilitary while SLAFs stood guard nearby, carried out in three distinct styles;
 - 2.1 balaclava wearing gunmen arriving in white-van at night at the victim's home;
 - 2.2 helmeted motorbike riders shooting and escaping in daylight; and
 - 2.3 missing people surfacing as bodies;
3. SLAFs assisted Sinhala mob attacks;
4. SLAFs aerial bombing and shelling of civilian settlements and
5. SLAFs killing inside LTTE area;
 - 5.1 SLAFs planted claymore mines,
 - 5.2 SLAFs killing by shooting in remote border areas of LTTE.
